

(Abstract)

Novel chromene compounds having various substituents to exhibit a high color-developing sensitivity and a high 5 density even when dispersed in a high-molecular matrix, and exhibiting a large fading rate, less color when deteriorated, and excellent light resistance in the photochromic properties; photochromic materials containing the chromene compounds; and use thereof.

10

15

20

25

30

35